“The White Mountain Huts: Past & Future”

Presented by: Allen Koop

The Appalachian Mountain Club's Hut System is a unique institution in the White Mountains of New Hampshire. Learn how the huts and their people have formed a world apart, a mountain society with its own history, traditions, and legends.

Allen Koop has a Ph.D. from the University of Pennsylvania and currently teaches European and American history at Dartmouth College. He has published books and articles on New Hampshire and American history.

The presentation will be at the Old Town Hall in Campton, which is handicap accessible, and open to the public. Refreshments will be served. For information about the Society, check our web site at www.camptonhistorical.org

This program is made possible by a grant from the New Hampshire Humanities Council.
