"Beebe River History Project Request"

Presented by: Tink Taylor

What a turnout! The community of Beebe River in Campton has a long and interesting history fondly remembered last week before a capacity gathering at June's program night. Remembered were the many master craftsmen and others who worked and lived in that industrial utopian, a company-run community, during its prime years between the 1920s until the 70s. A timeline was presented by Tink Taylor, a journalist who has long documented events at Beebe. His presentation brought out stories by many who worked and lived there or were otherwise involved in logging and the manufacture of knitting machine bobbins for the Draper Corp. Gratitude to the many who made this Campton Historical Society event come alive!

Taylor continues on his mission to document the story of Beebe River and its people, many who came out to share their memories. We would like to have a work session

October 23rd at 6pm at Campton Historical Society. PLEASE come out to be a part of this!

Bring your memories, knowledge and/or artifacts Feel free to call Tink in advance especially if you have something to share and can not make it. His number is 968-3846.
