"Local CCC Camps"

Presented by: David Govatski

We Can Take It: The Story of the Civilian Conservation Corps in the White Mountains

The Civilian Conservation Corps, or CCC, was one of our most successful and well-liked federal government programs and ran from 1933 to 1942. This program will discuss the CCC's legacy in the White Mountain region of New Hampshire and Maine. There were 21 CCC camps in the White Mountains, each employing up to 200 men.

David Govatski from Jefferson, NH. He retired from the US Forest Service after a 33-year career that included six summers working as a Work Project Director at a residential Youth Conservation Corps (YCC) camp in Mount Tabor, Vermont. CCC veterans trained him, and he has had a long interest in conservation work and continues to work as an advisor with a variety of other conservation corps crews. David has visited all 21 former CCC Camps and researched their work.
